Rebecca Gurney stores at the "totally rad" hat on Anne Snouck-Hurgronje's head, while Anne asks "Was that picture of me?"

"Well now . . ." says Mr. Wyatt to Linda Hong, "I'm not so sure George Washington was born in Oklahoma in 1853! Now fix that . . . CHOP, CHOP!"

Suzanne Ortuno is crowned Homecoming Queen at the game on Monday, October 23.

Maura Shine and Tim Billings enjoy the Home Coming dance. Aren't they cute?

Socializing outside of the Homecoming dance was a great way to cool off after dancing holes in your shoes.

"Hey! What's that crawling up the side of my sandwich?" Whoa, Kim McKenzie, I don't know! But it won't eat much.

Lights of the Times

Homecoming, football, weekends, friends, teachers, assemblies, jobs, and books. All of these are Signs of the Times to the many students at Washington-Lee. School plays a big part in the lives of all of the Generals. Everyone spends at least 6 1/2 hours in W-L five days a week, but to many of the students, school is a lot more than that. You can almost always find a General at the library, either working or talking (sometimes to someone from one of those "other schools."). Every weekend in the fall there is a large turnout for the football games. And sometimes the students just have school on their minds. These 248 pages are filled with people and events, all of which are Signs of the Times. There is something for everyone in this book, whether it happens to be a picture of you crossing the finish line, a picture of your best friend making a "scary" face, or something that triggers that special memory. This book is filled with the people you love, the people you hate, and the people you love to hate. So sit back and enjoy, and try reading the copy, it may surprise you. Just think, in twenty years you'll look back at this and say, "Oh yeah, I remember that. Boy, what a Sign of those Times!"

Decorating the Freshmen Commons wasn't all work and no play for these freshmen. They left their Sign throughout the school.

Matt Nelson and Souris Hong show their wild side during a senior class carwash. The carwashes often consisted of two or three water fights... soap and all.

Till Haverkamp asks "Is this the way they really dance in America?" Well, Till, there is no real way, just go WILD!

"Where The Wild Things Are"

And when the Generals came to the place where the wild things are they roared their terrible roars and gnashed their terrible teeth and rolled their terrible eyes and showed their terrible claws till the Generals yelled "BE STILL!!!" and tamed them with the magic trick of staring into their yellow eyes without blinking once and they were frightened and called the Generals the most wild things of all and made them rulers of all wild things, which wasn't easy. The wild things celebrated their new rulers and swung through the trees and danced wild thing dances under the moon and ran through the jungle until they were all so tired they had to rest. So they slept... and slept... and slept... and slept... and slept... and when they finally woke up they realized it was time to go to the next class... second period. Sound familiar?

Buster Washington and Karen Ketchum show how the seniors "stick together." We warned them not to play with that crazy glue!

Hey! Is that Adam Cummins? What is that boy doing? I guess he MUST be a senior if he's acting like that! They say that's when the mind goes. Boy, that's WILD!

Kyle Talbott FACES the world. Didn't we mention something about "scary" faces earlier?

Oh No! Don't let James Short get carried away by those balloons! We need him here!

"Gee, John, What's this here on my desk?" asks Brendan Holland. "Leave me ALONE! I'm trying to watch the dog tricks in the front of the room!" answered John Larson.

"Uhhhhh, Buy Penman popcorn?" Come on Peter Jones, SMILE like Steve McClemons and David Nelson! Are you that surprised that your picture was taken?

Well... That's Matt Nelson for you. He always has a smile on his face.

Vital Signs

For the students at Washington-Lee life extended far beyond the 7 classes a day and into many other activities. The Generals were involved in sports, plays, clubs, showing their spirit, jobs, "exterior decorating", and helping out with class activities. Everyone contributed something to W-L. This section is filled with those memories. Like the time when you actually bought an elevator pass just in time to find out it had expired, and your friend told you not to worry, you could resell it and make a profit. Or maybe that sign you made for the pep-rally that only your class found the true humor in. How about when you came out of class and tripped, and your soon-to-be boyfriend helped you pick up your books? All of these things are part of Student Life. This is the section where you get to see who went where when, and why the sky is blue and all of that great stuff. Now, before you turn the page and get started remember this one thing: Don't let anything in here embarrass you thirty years from now. Just think of it as the good old days. Just tell your kids, "Oh, those clothes I'm wearing are just A Sign of the Times!"

"Generals Are Risin'"

Although we lost the Homecoming Game to the Annandale Atoms, 35-0, spirits were high. Students, alumni, cheerleaders, teachers, and parents all cheered our 3 and 1 football team on. The Generals are doing better than ever before, we haven't won 3 straight games in a row since 1978.

The Seniors dominated Homecoming Week. They won spirit, hall decorating, and, for the third time in a row, float. Their theme was "Blast the Atoms". Second went to the Juniors, "Wipeout Annandale". Third went to the Freshmen with "Axe the Atoms", and last but not least, the sophomores with "Crush the Atoms".

The attendants this year were, Freshmen: Shiella Barber, Maurice

Terry, Emma Reyes, and Marcus Williams. This year's sophomore attendants were Kelly Munly, Scott Kelley, Betsy Stevenson, and William Turk. Representing the Junior class was Ginger Harvey, Corey Mazer, Claudia Lucas, and Horace Willis. The attendants for the Seniors were Suzanne Ortuno, Zane Kerby, Kim Tennes, Tony Bentley, Megan Woods, and Rick Schall. We all held our breaths for the King and Queen announcement . . . and the honor went to Zane Kerby, King, and Suzanne Ortuno, Queen. Suzanne comments, "I feel that it was an honor in itself being selected as a Homecoming attendant and representing Washington-Lee, considering the short time I've been here."

“Times To Remember”

This year's Homecoming dance was held on October 21, 1989. The dance, financially, was a terrific success for the Senior class. As far as fun; everybody had a great time. A total of about 200 couples showed up to dance the night away.

The 1989 Homecoming dance took place under unusual circumstances. First of all, heavy rains postponed the Homecoming game against district foe Annandale until the following Monday. Since the Homecoming King and Queen are crowned at the game, no one at the dance knew who the royalty was. Possible Queens were attendants Kim Tennes, Megan Woods, and Suzanne Ortuno. Rick Schall, Zane Kerby and Tony Bentley were the possible Kings.

A second unusual circumstance regarded the band that was scheduled to play at the Homecoming dance. Originally, the band Hot, Cold Sweat was to play for the crowd. Unfortunately, Hot, Cold Sweat broke up into two separate bands just prior to Homecoming. To fulfill their commitment, both fragments played at the Homecoming dance.

On the whole, the 1989 Homecoming dance was well worth the planning and effort put into it. The Senior Planning Committee did a wonderful job organizing and executing the dance. Even after all the mishaps, every couple attending the dance had a "Time To Remember."

Chris Dailey, Rick Hardy, Jennifer Gilbert, Danny Marcey, Britta Granrud, Melanie Sigros, Peter Kamoutseas, and Angelique Peta take in all that happened at the Homecoming dance.

"W-L BREAKS FOR WEEKENDS"

It's 2:09 on a typical Friday afternoon, and everyone is eagerly waiting for the dismissal noise commonly referred to as, "the bell". The sound is heard, and most of the students and faculty are thinking about their activities for the weekend, which many had been planning since Monday. No matter what the activity, everyone wants to make the weekend as productive and fun as possible.

The weekend excitement usually starts Friday evening when many students can be found back at W-L participating in one of the many sporting activities, such as a home football or basketball game. Then a large group of students find their way to McDonald's where decisions are made as to what to do the rest of the night. Of course, there are others that either choose to stay home to study or work Friday evenings.

Saturday mornings and afternoons people can find time to themselves to get anything they may have wanted to accomplish completed before Saturday night. Most W-L students try to spend their Saturday evenings with their friends at movies, parties, or just hanging out at people's houses. Much later Saturday night, some people even have fun decorating friends houses or cars with Charmin, White Cloud, or any other brand of toilet paper.

After Friday and Saturday, a W-L student is usually ready to relax. That is, until they realize that the English paper that was due Monday is due tomorrow. After that realization is made, Sunday seems to fly by, and Monday is here before you know it. Now, the chimes that were music to your ears three days ago are the chords to your death march.

Spirit, Spirit, Spirit!

Washington-Lee's 1989 Spirit Week was held from October 16 through October 20. Each day of the week had a different way for people to show their spirit. The theme for each day was selected by the SCA and displayed throughout the school on colorful posters and banners.

Monday started the week out with Rugby Day. Every kind of rugby shirt imaginable was worn. The most outrageous day of Spirit Week was Tuesday's Hat, Tie, and Button Day. Ties from every era went alongside with the strangest hats people could find. Washington-Lee spirit pins were on just about every shirt. Wednesday's theme was Sweatshirt Logo and Boxer Day. For many this was the favorite day because they could come to school in what they wore to sleep in that night. Dress-Up Day was held on Thursday. A sharp contrast to the previous day had everyone wearing their Sunday's finest. The week wound up with the traditional Blue and Gray Day. This was the last chance for everyone to show their spirit. This was also the day that the count was held to see which class had the most spirit. The results showed that the Class of 1990 won an overwhelming victory. Following behind them were the Classes of 1991, 1992, and 1993, respectively.

The Senior class also claimed victory in the Hall Decorating competition. Their rendition of War Memorial Stadium was judged to be the best hall in the school. Second place went to the Sophomores, third to the Juniors, and fourth to the Freshmen.

Spirit Week was a great time for all who participated. It was an opportunity to let Washington-Lee pride shine. The spirit even spilled over to the following Monday October 23, when the Homecoming game was held. The great tradition of Spirit Week at Washington-Lee High School was certainly not lost in 1990.

“Those Lazy, Hazy, Crazy Days of Summer!”

The definitions of "Summer" in the Random House College Dictionary are:

1. The season between spring and autumn.
2. A period of hot, unusually sunny weather.

The students at Washington-Lee have described summer as Freedom, Fun, Vacations, Work, Hanging Out and, for some, summer school.

This past summer Tracey Pilot, a junior, spent nineteen days at the Russian Academy held at James Madison University. When asked about her experience, Tracey commented, "It was a lot of fun, I made many new friends and learned a lot about the Russian language and cultures."

Justin Mog at British Columbia one of the many stops on a 72-day bicycle trip across country.

Kim and Linh Tennies, George Papokostos and Artis Mooney aboard the "Golden Arrow" in Greece.

Annemarie Glover and Anne Snouck-Hurgronje enjoy each other's company.

Justin Mog and Owen Emry, both sophomores cycled from Arlington, Va. to Seattle, Wa. The trip lasted 72 days and spanned 4,200 miles across the country.

Esther Drance, a Senior, spent three weeks in the state of Colorado. Some of the sights she saw were: Mesa Verde National Park, Winterpark, and many of the state colleges.

George Papakostos, Kim Tennies, Seniors, and Artis Mooney, Linh Tennies, both sophomores, spent a month touring the countryside of Greece. Linh remarked, "Greece is filled with many unique ruins, it is an experience I'll never forget."

Annemarie Glover

Jennifer Gibert in Montpellier, France Where she spent ten days of her vacation.

Becky Penning spent her summer with "Carine From France!" Carine not only came here for a month, but Becky went to France for a month.

The dusty photo albums, yellow with age, were pulled out to provide us with some revealing, youthful evidence. Have we changed? Well, we might be taller, more mature and less energetic now than we were in the good ol' days, but our faces remain the same, for the most part. See how many babies you can recognize on these two pages.

'Tis The Season To Give . . .

The annual Blood Drive sponsored by the SCA and Red Cross was held on Monday, December 4, 1989, in the Little Theatre. Sixty students and faculty members donated sixty pints of blood between second and seventh periods.

There were 13 SCA volunteers during the day. Their job was to fill out forms, take temperatures and escort the donors to the snack table.

Meg Woods, the SCA President, said that "The SCA was pleased by the students' effort to give blood."

Even the Freshmen have school spirit.

The varsity football team must prepare for the Homecoming pep rally.

The beat that keeps us cheering.

What cheer is this?

LET'S HEAR IT FOR GENERAL'S SPIRIT!

You survey the scene. It's 1:40 p.m. on a Friday afternoon. Students are eagerly leaving their seventh period classes early. Everyone is heading for the gym. You can hear sounds of percussion instruments beating a cadence. Each class separates into different sections of the gym. You guessed it. IT'S A W-L PEP RALLY!

Besides getting everyone psyched for the different sports events of the year, pep rallies were a chance to recognize team players, their captains, and their coaches. As usual, the cheerleaders were at the rallies shouting, clapping, and throwing each other in the air. This year the football players tried to imitate the cheerleaders by making a pyramid of their own. At the winter pep rally the boys' and girls' basketball teams entertained us by demonstrating some of their passing and shooting drills. We even got to see the girls' gymnastics team flip across the floor.

Pep rallies are always a great way to end a long week and get everyone in the mood to go out and support all of the Generals!

— Esther Drance

The cheerleaders' opinion is that the Generals are HOT!

"Bazaar" Holiday Fun

Washington-Lee's annual Holiday Bazaar was held on December 9, 1989. As usual, the senior class sponsored it, and thanks to the supreme efforts of chairpersons Jennifer Gibert, Lori Dolby, and Jennifer Rice, everything was perfect. Even the coating of snow that fell the day before and threatened to cancel the bazaar actually helped add to the holiday cheer. Due to school being cancelled because of the snow, a few dedicated seniors showed up to be the set-up committee. The commons was decked with festive trimmings as the tables were put in order.

When the day finally arrived, vendors came early to put up their displays of crafts, jewelry, and wood-works that they sold. Each class also sold crafts and food. Many W-L clubs also participated, mostly selling delectable foods to hungry customers. Santa was there with a few of his elves to take down holidays wishes and to provide some Polaroid memories. The Madrigals made their customary appearance and delighted the crowd with The Boar's Head and Christmas Bells. All ages showed up to browse and buy for the upcoming holiday festivities. The 1989 Holiday Bazaar was a great success and fun for all. It will be something to look forward to next year.

“Friends of the Times”

You have probably seen them in the halls, walking side by side (or in some cases . . . hand in hand). Many of these “couples” have known each other for years, some may have just met. They all have something in common that has kept their bond strong. This section is dedicated to some of these individuals that have been through the good and the bad together, but always remained friends.

They may have argued over petty things at times, or things that really meant a lot. They were always there for each other giving each other a shoulder to lean on when things were just not going right. They have spent endless hours at the mall, movies, or simply hanging out with their significant other. At times it seems they may never grow bored with each other.

Whether they were best friends, sweethearts, or whatever the case, they will always have one thing in common . . . the spirit of friendship will always be present.

—Heather Roberts

Ellis Malave and Susan Cmiel show how happy they are together.

George Papakostas and Artis Mooney spent their time together in Greece.

Mike Cowell and Kathy Hooban show that age doesn't matter.

Darnell Gant and Jimmy Williams, best friends, can always be seen together.

Jinx McEwen and Ashley Golden have been best of friends for a long time.

Julio Andrade and Shirley Ochoa are always happy to be together.

Zane Kerby and Suzanne Ortuno are the typical W.L. couple.

WASHINGTON-LEE WEAR

The General fashion statements for the 1989-90 school year were diverse! No two words can describe the styles that people chose to model. Generals cannot be generalized!

Some trends that were observed include baseball hats, rugby shirts, basic denims, turtlenecks, and various t-shirts, to name a few. This year, individual styles were the real trends.

Grades!?

We get out of 7th period early, sounds good huh? Then we have to report to our homerooms to get our favorite things in the world, report cards! Yes, there are the few that like "Report Card Day," but most of us would rather play hookie for the day.

Whether we want to believe it or not grades are important, to some more than others. Some students may study 3 hours a night and others may not study at all. And there are the ones that try to get the half-an-hour's worth of homework done in the 5 minutes before class.

When it comes to research projects some of us have mastered the art of procrastination. And what about that last minute cramming for the big history test 1st period tomorrow?

There are students though, that study every night, go to the library on weekends (weekdays, too), and get good grades because of it. Yet, some don't study and still get good grades. This usually frustrates the $*#@#! out of the people that labor for good grades. Oh well, maybe the hard workers will end up ahead in the long run.

"But, oh, Monsieur Argan!" says Toinette (Nicole Poulin) to Argan (Steve McClemons) as Angelica (Tricia Clark) looks on excitedly.

Dr. Purgon (Emily Williams) tells Argan just how big the needle is.

Is There a Doctor in the House?

Everyone has been sick at one time or another, but in the case of Monsieur Argan in the fall play The Imaginary Invalid, by Moliere, sickness was a profession. The play consisted of twelve Washington-Lee students who all demonstrated true dramatic talent. Argan, the "imaginary invalid" was portrayed by Steve McClemons. In short, very short, the story goes like this.

There is this man who always things he is sick. This man is Argan. Now, with him lives his beautiful, much younger wife, his two daughters (Angelica and Louise), and his maid Toinette. Argan wants Angelica (Tricia Clark) to marry young Doctor Diaforus so that there will be a doctor in the family. The only problem is that Angelica is in love with another man, and of course daddy doesn't know! So, Angelica and Toinette (Nicole Poulin) scheme to get Argan to let his daughter marry who she wants. Meanwhile, Argan's wife Beline (Ghita Harris) and his lawyer Monsieur Bonnefoy (Tony Brawner) are scheming to get rid of Argan for his money. Now, Dr. Diaforus (Lori Dolby) and her not too bright son, the young doctor (Luis Monje), pay a visit. Young Thomas flirts with everyone while his mother tries to plan the wedding. During their visit, the man Angelica really loves, Cleante (Jon Hennessee), stops in, disguised of course. The Diaforus' leave and Cleante follows Angelica to her room where sister Louise (Melanie Asp) spys. Then Argan's brother Berlade (Chris Donahue) arrives and tries to talk some sense into Argan about the marriage of Angelica. When Argan's doctor and apothecary come (Emily Williams and Betsy Stevenson) and decide that they are tired of all of Argan's excuses. So, they leave in a huff and Argan gets worried. "No problem" says Berlade, as he and Toinette do a little scheming of their own. Toinette announces another doctor, who turns out to be none other than Toinette herself in a clever disguise. She does a little quick changing and convinces Argan that he will be OK. In the end, the entire cast does a rap that supposedly makes Argan his own doctor. Oh yeah, Angelica gets Cleante and Beline gets found out.

Angelica dances for dad as Berlade (Chris Donahue), Toinette, and Cleante (Jon Hennessee) look on. Doesn't Argan look excited?

The apothecary (Betsy Stevenson), prepares the syringe for Argan's shot.

Monsieur Bonnetoy (Tony Brawner) and Beline (Ghita Harris) took great pleasure in sneaking around and keeping their romance a secret.

"And, uh, I'm really cute, and I speak Latin, and, uh, . . . did I mention I'm cute?" Young Thomas (Luis Monje) recites what his mother, Dr. Diaforus (Lori Dolby), told him to say to his future father-in-law.

Obviously, Louise (Melanie Asp) has been a bad little girl.

Toinette thinks Argan's "cures" for his "illnesses" are just a big joke. Here she follows at his feet while he paces the room to Gain back his health.

"Flashback to the 50's"

"Grease," the 1950's hit musical by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey was an instant hit when it premiered on Broadway in 1972. This was also the case when "Grease" hit the stage of Washington-Lee on April 26, 27, and 28. The story centers on the romance between Sandy Dumbrowski (Lisa Kulish, Betsy Stevenson) and Danny Zuko (Zane Kerby). The Burger Palace Boys and the Pink Ladies play their parts as well.

Basically, it goes like this: Sandy and Danny met at the beach in the summer, had a fling, and went their separate ways. Summer is over and it's time to hit the books again. Sandy and Danny didn't realize, however, that both would be attending good old Rydell High. When the truth is found out, Sandy is shocked to find that Danny is a "greaser" and Danny has to explain his Miss Goody-Too-Shoes to the Burger Palace Boys.

Sandy is depressed, but cheers up when she is invited to a Pink Lady slumber party at Marty's (Lori Dolby) house. Rizzo (Becky Penning, Emily Williams), the head Pink Lady, quickly finds that she doesn't like Sandy's style. Things progress quickly and Danny is back together with Sandy; at least until Danny stops being a perfect gentleman. There is more romance between Rizzo and Danny's right hand man, Kenickie (Luis Monje). That lasts until Rizzo's time of the month doesn't appear.

After a while, Sandy realizes that she is too good for even herself. So, she calls the one Pink Lady that is her friend, Frenchy (Tricia Clark, Gayle Boseley), to give her a makeover. When we next see Sandy, Whoo! is she cool. She has become "Big D" and all the guys flip over her. But, Danny gets his girl and all is well at Rydell. Incidentally, Rizzo had a false alarm and she and Kenickie are lovey-dovey again. Of course, the production ended with a wild 50's song and dance by the entire cast. To most who saw the play, it was a big change from the movie, but it was still "Solid." A-wap-bop-a-lu-bob-a-wop-bam-boom!

Director Mrs. Filpi instructs some cast members on how teenagers acted in the 1950's.

The Pink Ladies and the Burger Palace Boys get a good laugh when Danny and Sandy find out that they both go to Rydell.

The Pink Ladies look like they have everything in control, including the Burger Palace Boys.

Danny Zuko (Zane Kerby) shows off his two Sandys (Betsy Stevenson and Lisa Kulish), one from each cast.

The Burger Palace Boys hang out around "Greased Lightning" on a Saturday night.

The nerd of Rydell High, Eugene Floryczek (Eduardo Contreras), is flanked by the two over-spirited Patty Simeoxes (Jeanette Lavere and Melanie Asp).

And heeeeere's the cast:

(Bottom) Steve McClemons, Betsy Stevenson, Lisa Kulish, Becky Penning, Chris Donohue, Emily Williams, Jimmy Lucier, Luis Monje. Aren't they cool?

"Hey, hey, hey... who are these two guys, and WHY are they sitting with us, SENIOR girls? It's just not right!" say Shirley Ochoa, Elizabeth Gurney, Lori Dolby, and Terezia Rauch. Those two guys just DONT belong!

Class president Nathan Harned takes a nap after a hard day's work. Many students' don't realize how essential a nap is to many of the seniors in order to keep up that high energy level, even if the nap does happen to be in 1st period, or 2nd, or 3rd, or...

nd now... the moment you've all been waiting for... "These are the words the Class of 1990 waited three years to hear, and on Friday, June 2nd, 1989, they heard those words from the mouth of class president Nathan Harned. Senior year had finally come! And with it came endless nights of homework, and college applications, and papers due the next day, and worries. But it wasn't all bad! The Seniors swept spirit week, winning the hall decorating, Blue, Gray, & Shine Day, and the float (for the third year in the row). They got out of class many times to go to one of the many homerooms, and to go visit their counselors, and to go on FUN fieldtrips. The Class of 1990 finally got REAL wallet size pictures to give to their friends. They had the "pleasure" of putting together the Holiday Bazaar, and Homecoming, and Prom, and Graduation. An Off-Campus lunch pass was finally a reality... and was finally "legal". The Seniors did a lot of work... but they also did a lot of playing. It wasn't easy, but the Class of 1990, the first class of the new decade, survived. Through the students' four years at W-L there was laughing, and crying, and crying because of laughing. There were jokes you wanted to remember but couldn't, and jokes you would have loved to forget. Washington-Lee is not a place the Class of 1990 will soon forget, although a few may want to. It will stay with them forever, and will always be remembered as one of many SIGNS OF THE TIMES!

Joanne C. Dufrane

Q: What was your favorite year at W-L, and why?

A: My Junior year was my favorite, because I spent more time with my friends and there wasn't a lot of pressure on me; and I also got to experience many exciting things that year.

Q: What was your most memorable moment?

A: There really isn't just one, but I would say either my junior year Homecoming or the weekend I spent in Richmond for the DECA state leadership conference.

Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?

A: During my sophomore year, I was doing this one fashion show at Ballston and as I was going down the runway, I walked right out of my shoe.

Q: Would you do it (high school) again?

A: Yes, because I'd like to change and relive some of the things I did in my four years at W-L.

Q: Describe your 4 years at W-L in one word.

A: Memorable!

Nathan Harned

Q: What was your favorite year at W-L, and why?

A: Sophomore year. I did close to nothing. It was fun because it's a neutral year. You've gotten to know the school and the people so the social part is set and when you're a sophomore you think it's too early to think about college.

Q: What was your most memorable moment?

A: It was 12:30 Labor Day night. The next day we were going to start our final year of High School so we decided to do the traditional thing in a new and improved way. We tried to paint "Class of 90" across the whole parking lot. It took us 15 minutes . . . we laughed the whole time.

Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?

A: I have this disease . . . classee sleep-eitous. I can't stay awake in most classes. I've been in many a class and start talking in my sleep. Bad scene.

Q: Would you do it (high school) again?

A: Sure, but I'd do an all girls High School next time around.

Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word.

A: Exuberant

Adam Cummins

Q: What was your favorite year at W-L, and why?

A: Junior year, there was more fun, no worries of college, sort of an easy year.

Q: What was your most memorable moment?

A: no comment

Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?

A: When my foot fell through the dock at crew.

Q: Would you do it (high school) again?

A: Yes . . . I don't know. It would be kind of fun I guess.

Q: Describe your 4 yrs. at W-L in one word.

A: edifying.

Andi Mason

Q: What was your favorite year at W-L, and why?

A: All of them are, but freshman year was the best considering finding new friends and boyfriends.

Q: What was your most memorable moment?

A: It has to be being one of the two first selected to play Varsity soccer freshman year.

Q: What was your most embarrassing moment?

A: It had to be in class Olympics 10th grade when I did the bat spin. As I was running back to tag the next person I fell flat on my knees. It was in front of the whole school — How embarrassing!

Q: Would you do it (high school) again?

A: Oh, yea. The fun, excitement, tears, being sleepy all the time — Yes, I would do it all again.

Q: Describe your four years at W-L in one word.

A: Unremarkable!!

Dollar Signs

Raising enough money for a memorable prom proved to be easier said than done. According to Senior class president, Nathan Harned, they considered raffling off a date with Suzanne Ortuno, but after consulting with Zane Kerby about his financial status, decided to have mercy on his piggy bank and raise the money some other way.

Candy sales, car washes, dances, and the Christmas Bazaar all contributed to a healthy treasury, and hopefully to a night we'll never forget.

We Are Fired Up!

As freshmen, the class of 1990 lacked one vital element . . . spirit. Of course there were those who sported their enthusiasm and were drained of energy by the end of every pep rally and sporting event.

Four years and three Homecoming float victories later, the scene was a much different one. As Seniors, our class has proven to be just as loud, energetic, and obnoxious as the classes ahead of us have been. We have had big turn-outs at football games, basketball games and crew regattas. Many of us have learned the cheerleaders' cheers, and even made up a few of our own.

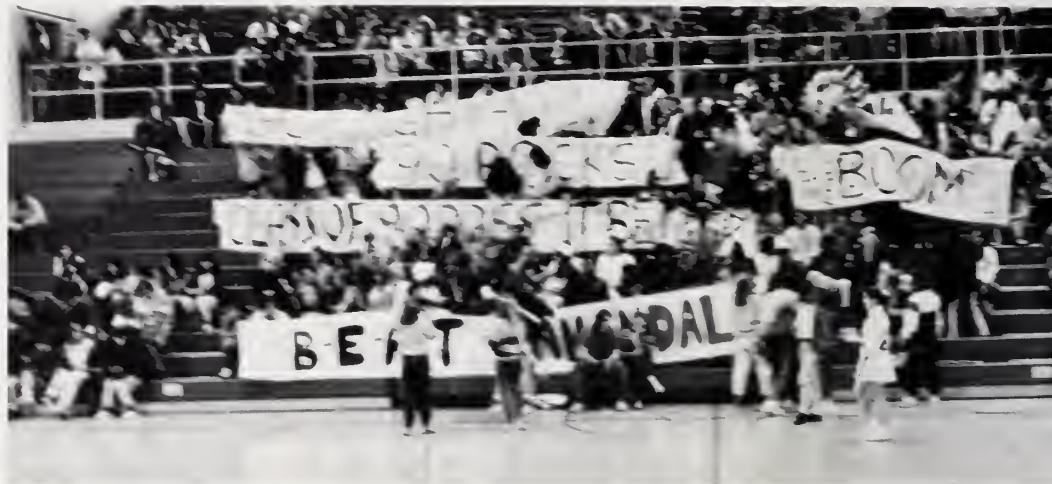

This year we made a clean sweep of the Homecoming activities. We won the float contest, hall decorating, and spirit week. This was a task that involved a lot of time and effort and couldn't have been done without the help of many of our classmates.

So, in spite of our slow start, senior spirit is yet another sign of the times.

Times to Remember

The time honored Homecoming traditions were held this year as in the past. The dance, coordinated by Maura Shyne, took place on October 21, but because of several rain storms, the game against the Annandale Atoms was postponed until the following Monday night.

Spirits were high all week as Seniors put the finishing touches on their float, "BLAST THE ATOMS." The class of 1990 won the hall decorating contest headed by Karen Fisher, Spirit week, and the float contest, a victory that until this year had never been gained three consecutive years.

Because of the unusual schedule, Suzanne Ortuno and Zane Kerby (substituted for by Matt Hirschmann) weren't crowned King and Queen until after the dance, during the football halftime show. Other attendants included seniors Meg Woods, Kim Tennes, Jai Mitchell, and Tony Bentley.

In spite of the unfavorable weather and the loss of the game, a good time was had by all. For seniors though, who are leaving W-L, the title of "Home" coming seems a bit ironic.

Signing Out

Have you ever experienced that incredible feeling that there is no possible way you can make it through the day without a break? Or maybe you can't tell your English teacher that you don't have your research paper . . . again, or you forgot about that Physics test, or you just don't feel like going to class. Well, you're not alone. In fact, that's why senior skip day was established. It's a day that seniors (the ones who can afford to anyway) don't bother coming to school. Of course, it's an activity that is heavily frowned upon by the administration and some teachers, (you know, the ones who schedule a double weighted test for the same day).

Whatever the opinions are, senior skip day is a day for relieving some of the everyday pressures we face, and having a little fun. It is a tradition that will probably continue for many years. Let's face it, it's just another sign of the times.

Signs of Authority

This Years Senior class officers put a spice in the class of 1990. They came out of the blue and created a senior year worth remembering.

Joining the ranks this year were Nathan Harned as President and Jai Michelle as VP. They both put much effort in getting to know the senior class and how it worked. The Homecoming dance was, Financially, the biggest success in years for the senior class. Though these spunky guys seem like they could do anything but they can't do it alone. The senior class officers for the final year were; Nathan Harned — President, Jai Michelle — VP, Kim McKenzie — Treas., Becky Penning — Sec., Senators Lara Honrado and Rafael Clark, consultant — Michelle Geiger. The Young Leaders had much assistance from other class members to raise the money from prom.

The class of 1990 proved to everyone that they, even as young adults, could handle anything.

Michelle Geiger makes out a plan for our Prom.

Becky and Lori show everyone that the bazaar is the place to be!

Allison Arnold organized Prom Committee files.

Vital Signs

As the year dragged on, the endless evenings at the library, the after school activities, the party-all-night weekends, that annoying teacher who thought you didn't have any other homework, cramming for the Government test that you had to ace, deciding where to go for lunch, and the pre-occupation with life after high school, not to mention trying to maintain a social life eventually caught up to all of us. (Some sooner than others.)

As a result, no matter how hard we tried, it became virtually impossible to stay awake during seven long periods. There isn't a senior among us who can honestly say they never dozed off during that first period movie that someone dug up at the archives, at least once in a while.

Senior Pranks

Adding to the list of time honored traditions at W-L is that of senior pranks. Each year seniors put their minds to work as they try to out-do the classes before them. Over the years, much of the originality has been lost but seniors still have fun with their practical jokes.

It has always been a tradition for the Senior class to steal the bust of George Washington and return it before graduation. The class of 1990 successfully completed this task early on. While the usual badgering of underclassmen didn't provide too many laughs this year, some students chose to refine their painting abilities on the parking lot while others mastered the art of toilet papering and Mrs. Jeens' podium received a surprising new paint job compliments of Danny Marcey.

This year's Senior class left their mark and proved that they would make the best of their last year at W-L.

The class of 1990 showed their spirit from the beginning by painting the parking lot for the first day of school.

Signs of a Senior

A sure sign of a senior is the possession of an off-campus lunch pass. The privilege is only legally extended to Seniors, but on any given day, it is not difficult to find underclassmen at the local restaurants.

Among the many fast food chains frequently visited by students, the most popular are: Roy Rogers, McDonalds, Two Chefs, Wendy's, and even Juliana Sparkman eats in a hurry to get back to school on time.

Ballston Commons.

Going out for lunch taught many of us more than we never wanted to know about money management. Our stomachs were full, but our wallets were empty. Consequently, many seniors went home for lunch or even ate . . . yes, that's right . . . the cafeteria food.

Signing Off

It's over? Some of us look back and wonder where the time went, others sigh with relief. It doesn't matter which you do, you still will have lifelong memories, good and bad.

Memories of gym in Freshman and Sophomore years. Swimming in those "really cool" swimsuits and doing aerobics in those polyester shorts, who could forget that. Who could forget biology with Dr. Varn or Mr. Kenefake? That first dance you went to where you stood against the wall so as not to be killed by the upper classmen. Then as the years went on we received our off campus lunch passes, NOW we were legal.

Everyone, of course, has memories of their first day at W-L. Meeting our friendly administration Mr. Crawley, Ms. Bratt, Mr. Armstrong, and, of course Dr. Sharbaugh. When we all first got here we thought we would never find our way around and never make a single friend. Well, now we all could probably walk these halls backwards with our eyes closed and do it with an arm load of friends.

No one said it was going to be easy or fun. For some of us it was for others, we are still recovering. Someday we will come back to these "hallowed halls" and smile, cry, laugh, or just get angry at what we remember from our High School years.

IT'S BEEN FUN!! GOODBYE!!

"You, too, can be queen for the day." says Melanie Sigros to anyone who will listen. Now you tell me. How happy does she REALLY look? I guess Junior year really does have a strange affect on students.

Signs of the End

It is often heard that your Junior year is the most difficult of the years spent in high school. If this is true, the Class of 1991 certainly did not show it. They demonstrated great tolerance of all the work that was piled on. They wrote their first research paper, using the MLA handbook of course. They discovered the true meaning of the word vocabulary. Many of the juniors learned that their used to be fifty-one-million small town, freedom lovin', self-sufficient farmers from the legendary Mr. Wyatt. The Juniors really gave the Seniors a run for their money in the float contest and spirit week competitions. They knew they had a tough act to follow, but they did a tremendous job of it. Each member of the Class of 1991 left an impression on his or her teachers that will not soon be forgotten. They didn't let the burden of PSAT's and SAT's get to them. They went through the year nonstop, creating a lasting impression on everyone. And they realized that all the work, and all the fun, all the tears, and all the joy, all the whining, and all the pleading, and all the spirit they let shine through, it was all just a SIGN OF THE TIMES, and that their years at W-L were almost through.

General Junior Leaders

The 1989-90 Junior Class officers were president, Tricia Clark; vice-president, Matt Poteet; treasurer, Michelle Pavitt; secretary, Bruce Hickey; and senators, Jorge Obando, Brendan Holland, and Jeremy Rinker.

Junior senator, Jorge Obando, said, "The Junior class started off strong and is in a great position for their senior year."

This was our last full year to get ready for our senior prom. Tricia Clark said, "Our class has the makings for a successful senior year if participation is increased throughout the class." She was happy about the turnout for the car washes and the candy sales.

The Junior Difference

Many consider Junior year to be the toughest, yet the most rewarding year of high school. We are finally upperclassmen, and no longer new to the idea of high school, but, along with the maturity comes much more responsibility. When asked how she feels about her Junior year, Caroline Pons replied, "People have told me that Junior year is the hardest, and so far I believe it."

Many Juniors are beginning to prepare for college by taking Advanced Placement courses, and learning about various Universities that they may be interested in. Of course, being a Junior isn't all work. One of the advantages of being older is being able to drive and stay out later, enjoying those weekends that we all look forward to. As 11th graders, we look forward to a bright future, but we don't mind spending a little more time just where we are.

A Time to Remember

Homecoming 1989 was certainly one to remember. The spirit of the junior class will not easily be forgotten either, with a close second place in the float contest. The theme for the float was "Wipe Out The Atoms". The Homecoming Attendants were Ginger Harvey, Claudia Lucas, Corey Mazer and Horace Willis. Students' spirits were high at the Homecoming Dance on Saturday October 21st. When asked about the dance, Brendan Holland replied, "the chaperones were really nice and the refreshments were spectacular." All in all, Homecoming 1989 was both fun and memorable.

Best of Friends

Junior year was a lot of work, and we went through some hard times. Work piled up on us, and our parents started pressuring us about college. We looked upon fellow classmates to get us through these stressful times.

Most of us have been at W-L awhile, and have made a lot of lasting friendships. Shauna Vick says, "Barbara and I have been close friends for a long time, and it is nice to know we are here for each other." These friendships helped pull us through our junior year.

Hey Matt, Panos and Craig, what's DP3?

Best friends, Shauna Vick and Barbara Parrella take time out of class to pose for the camera.

The Class of 1992 showed its spirit when they decorated the hall for Homecoming.

Yes, these four are Sophomores, and are proud of it.

Signs of Life

Sophomore year is not what is often referred to as the best year in high school, but it isn't all bad. Yeah, yeah, I admit that as a sophomore one has to take another year of gym, and it is recommended that students take the PSATs, and the Minimal Competency Test is a must, but just remember that sophomore year is your LAST year of required gym, and that as a Junior you HAVE to take the PSATs, and that the Minimal Competency Test is NOTHING like the SATs, and that AP English is not quite the same thing as "Intensified." Yet still, the second year of high school can be fun! The Class of 1992 proved that theory. The students showed their spirit at the pep rallies and games, and especially at Homecoming. They did their share of picking on the "underclassmen" (which consisted of the freshmen class). They terrorized the halls, and the teachers, and the rest of the school. Driving was a new and exciting experience for many of the students, and it allowed them to terrorize the streets as well as everything else. The Class of 1992 realized that being a Sophomore wasn't all bad. The best part was, of course, no longer having the label "FRESHMEN!!!!" pinned on. For many of the members of the Class of 1992, sophomore year was just A SIGN OF THE TIMES!!!

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Trends seem to be one of the influences that make what we do a sign of the times. This year the trends seem to be: BATMAN, NEON COLOURS, FRIENDSHIP BRACELETS, etc . . . Music has also caught on to become a sign of the times, with artists like: DEBBIE GIBSON, THE BEASTIE BOYS, and NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK. Not all people consider these things to be trendy, but at one point or another, they will fade.

The way you dress is also a "SIGN OF THE TIMES", with outfits of neon colours and acid wash. With looks, come attitudes that seem to reflect what you wear. Some of these types are: the valley girl, the shy intellectual, and the outgoing chatterbug.

Some people carry on these trends as traits but to others they are just a faze in our generation.

NUMBER ONE DETERMINATION

Every year almost every high school participates in some sort of spirit week, and this year the sophomores at W-L proved to be the best. It all began with the typical outfits throughout the week, ranging from boxer and college sweatshirt day to dress up day. When BLUE AND GRAY day arrived the sophomores showed their stuff, determined to be first place in the school spirit judging. Unfortunately they came in second place with the juniors a step above.

After this tradition, the halls were prepared to be at their best when decorated for the homecoming festivities. Working through most of the evening the sophomores built a gate and almost a new world to walk into. Of course, the Seniors did overrule us in that competition, but we came in second place, showing we were really a sign of the times.

We will all get our chance to be the best, but until then the CLASS OF 1992 will, "Put their best foot forward!"

— Shannon McIntyre

YOUNG LEADERS

The student council is a part of every school and the responsibilities that the representatives take on prepare them to be young leaders.

You may think that the student council is all fun and games but to President — Scott Kelly, Vice President — Matt Smaldone, Treasurer — Sam Phaup, Secretary — Sean Bammens, School Board Representative — Eduardo Contreras, and Senators — Ghita Harris, Betsy Stevenson, and Kelly Munley, it's taking the school in your hands. The requests that the students of W-L want are the main concern of the officers. All they want to do is make our school a better place to be and to make sure everyone has the chance to participate in school activities.

Our goal is to not only make the students happy but to make our prom the best that there could ever be and to make each year before that a year to remember. Some of the activities the student council prepared this year were a car wash, candy sales, and bake sales, all of which the profits go towards the prom of 1992. The officers this year have certainly satisfied our school needs and have the potential to become young leaders.

— Shannon McIntyre

Rachel Kahn is in awe at the immense responsibility that our School Board Representative — Eduardo Contreras assumes.

MEMORIES OF A TRADITION

The air was cool and W-L was highlighted with homecoming tradition. Little disappointment was about the school, except the postponement of the homecoming game and festivities.

The gym was filled with elegance, and the presence of this years sophomore homecoming attendants: Scott Kelly, Kelly Munley, Betsy Stevenson, and Turk Williams, enhanced the beauty of the night. The dance was successful, and even though the band was troubled the festivities went on.

On the following Monday, the W-L Generals were prepared to beat Anandale. To start it off the traditional caravan of convertibles introduced the homecoming attendants. Then, the floats appeared and the sophomore float was definately made with brilliance.

After the opening festivities the GENERALS marched out-revved up to win. The only reason we were defeated was because we were so worn out after the homecoming weekend. Even though we didn't triumph, the W-L school spirit will never diminish as long as the exuberance of the students of W-L goes on.

The homecoming of 1989 was definitely a nite to remember and a memory never to forget.

— Shannon McIntyre

SOPHOMORES AFTER HOURS

When you imagine a sophomore, you imagine the daily life they lead in school, but a sophomore is still a sophomore after hours when they hit the town.

Living so close to the nations capitol there is an abundance of things to do. One of the many popular places to go is Georgetown, with its rows of exotic shops and different people. Another of the many after hours hot spots is the movies such as, Courthouse or Skyline theaters. For the more outgoing sophomore nite life is just a string of clubs and dancing till dawn.

The list goes on and participation in school activities is at the top. Many of the underclass students at W-L go to football games and even lend their strengths in grueling sports. But for the sophomore not really into school spirit, a quiet evening at home will do.

As you can see, sophomore life isn't just learning the rules and studying till you drop, it's an understanding of life in America.

— Shannon McIntyre

Mana Shukla races against time but little does she know, the clock hasn't been working for three years.

Signing In

993! But what happens in 1993?" This was a frequently asked question by members of the freshmen class during the past school year. The answer . . . they graduate! Now that wasn't such a bad answer, was it? The Class of 1993 blasted on to the scene at Washington-Lee and made its presence known. From the beginning the freshmen showed their spirit and "will to survive" in "the jungle of upperclassmen." And being a freshman is not easy. There is gym, including swimming, and there is making new friends, because more of your old friends went to some other school, and there is the constant picking on by the upperclassmen. Of course, there is always that best friend who DID go to W-L, and there is always that Senior who actually acknowledges the presence of a freshman, and there is always, always the 2:10 pm bell that signals . . . ESCAPE! The Class of 1993 put up with a lot of abuse from the upperclassmen, which they just barely lived through. There is just one piece of advice to the freshmen, don't bother trying to sell elevator passes in your future years of high school, because the market is dead, and remember, Being a "baby" in a world of "big people" is just one of many SIGNS OF THE TIMES, and it, like everything else, will pass the time.

SPIRIT WEEK 89'

The week before homecoming. Excitement is in the air. Spirit running wild. Among the spirit week activities there was rugby shirt day, hat, tie, and button day, boxer short day, dress-up day, and blue and gray day. There was also the hall decorating competition, and the float contest. The Freshmen class made a valiant attempt, yet, as usual the Seniors won overall. In Spirit Week the Freshmen came in third. In the hall decorating the Freshmen came in last. In the float contest, the Freshmen float beat out the Sophomores for third place. Overall, the Freshmen did well in the spirit competitions.

It Was A Wonderful Weekend

October 21, 1989, despite the postponement of the traditional homecoming game many Freshmen represented their class by participating in the annual dance. The Freshman couples enjoyed the music of Hot, Cold, Sweat as they danced the night away. Love was in the air. The dance began at nine, it ended at the stroke of midnight. Yet the memories remain. Some of the Freshmen couples included Greg Pons, and Grace

Harmon, Jeff Hensgen, and Melanie Asp, Stephen Cooper, Claudia Caceres, Ted Findler, and Chrissy Shine. The Freshmen homecoming attendants were Maurice Terry, and Shiella Barber, and Marcus Williams, and Emma Reyes. During half-time the Freshmen attendants paraded onto the field in a display of elegance. In all the homecoming festivities were a success.

Signing Passes

“*I*t’s because of the faculty that we have to come to school!” This is a phrase often stated by W-L students, but if it is true why is it such a frequent sight to see students joking with teachers, and laughing with the administrators, and really talking with the guidance counselors? As much as Generals hate to admit it, the faculty is not bad at all. For instance, what kind of a birthday would Mr. Wyatt have if Mrs. Jeens never spilled the beans as to when it is? Or what would the administration do at lunch if the cafeteria ladies didn’t prepare something for the administration to watch the students eat? And worst of all, if it wasn’t for the faculty who would teach . . . and mark students tardy . . . and give out homework . . . and . . . wait a minute, is that all the faculty does? Of course not! Students do not seem to realize all the time and effort the faculty at Washington-Lee puts into helping us, the students, have a successful life! So next time you see a teacher, or any other member of the faculty, don’t just mumble a hello, treat that person as he or she should be treated, as a person. Just think, all this teaching and learning stuff that goes on in Washington-Lee is A SIGN OF THE TIMES, just like everything else in life!

— Lori Dolby

ADMINISTRATION

Dear Seniors,

High school is four of the best years of your life. They can be whatever you want them to be. I hope you have not only enjoyed them but also feel that you have gotten a great start on the remainder of your life. This book will provide fond memories for you and allow you to remember a very special "slice" of your life.

Best Wishes to you in your future endeavors.

What many seniors see their Guidance counselors for

Guidance

What could we do without this group of people? For all students, a guidance counselor was someone who arranged your class schedule for next year. But for different students, counselors were many different things. If one needed his class rank for a club, the counselor would cheerfully obtain it. If one had an academic or personal problem, the counselor was ready to listen. And for seniors, the counselor was an invaluable guide through college application forms and scholarships.

Teacher's . . . Fashion?

Many students may not think about it, but several teachers here are often recognized by what they wear. For instance, Mrs. Jeens would not seem herself if she did not wear one of her Tie-scarves to class. Mr. Schelstrate would not be recognizable if he did not wear a shirt, tie, and blue jeans to school. What if Mr. Muskett never wore his sweats again? Or if Mr. Harocopos never wore a suit and tie? Surely, Life as we know it at W-L would never be the same.

Some teachers dress up for the holidays. This year, Mrs. Leeb dressed up as a witch for Halloween. And do you remember a Santa Claus that looked vaguely like Mr. Armstrong? Clearly, teachers, whatever they wear, show signs of the times.

A Faculty baby picture — Tom Kenefake.

The Washington-Lee sings the National Anthem at the Homecoming game. It is just one of the many organizations here at W-L.

Signing Up

Academics and Organizations are an important part in the lives of all the students and faculty at Washington-Lee. Every day of school the students spend 6 1/2 hours learning and learning and learning. But it doesn't stop there! After school there are meetings of all sorts of clubs. There are clubs to learn about culture, service clubs, foreign language clubs, business clubs, and leadership clubs. During school students can work on one of the three publications, play in the band, sing a song, take a picture, or demonstrate true dramatic talent. There are even organizations, for students who excel in a certain area, which are referred to as honor societies. There is some sort of organization for everyone at Washington-Lee.

Everyday students are exposed to the academics in their classes. The teachers do their best to teach, and usually the students do their best to learn. Sometimes the students can even teach the teacher something. It is a never ending circle of knowledge. And in those daily academics there is always that class clown. So don't think of all those clubs, publications, and songs as work, think of them as play! And just keep in mind that everything you learn, teach, and help with is, in some way, a SIGN OF THE TIMES!

— Lori Dolby

Sign of the Times

CML AND VML

The Continental Math League, headed by Mrs. Nocera is solely for freshmen. Five or six tests are given periodically throughout the year. The top three students who attain high scores on these tests go on to compete in other tests.

The Virginia Math League, sponsored by Mr. Gary Southard is open to all students. Like the Continental Math League, the top three students go to compete in Virginia.

MU ALPHA THETA

Mu Alpha Theta, or "MATH" is a national club for students. It is sponsored by Mrs. Arlene Southard and Mrs. Anna Medlen. The club is for students interested in Mathematics and possibly careers in math. It originated at the University of Oklahoma in Norman, Oklahoma, and has been in existence over 30 years.

Mu Alpha Theta is not an honor society, although there is a grade requirement. In addition, each candidate must have completed two academic math courses and with a "B" average and be currently enrolled in a third course.

When asked about what she thought about the club, Mrs. Medlen said, "I think it's a great idea although I was never in it myself."

Linda Long

Mrs. Southard goes over problems in her math class.

Terezia Rauch, president of the club, listens to fellow member's idea.

Malee Lucas discusses a few problems with a fellow student.

Philip Businger turns around when he is interrupted from working out a math problem.

Science Research Club

Theories and Theorems

This year, the Science Research Club, was once again, sponsored by Dr. Celia Varn. The club offered students who are interested in science and who wish to research their preferred field of study, an opportunity to do just that.

Along with the help of the science department, the club allowed students to use much of the county's scientific equipment. Thus the club became a great way to help students start their science projects; because not only did they receive the help of Dr. Varn and the rest of the science department, they also get to use equipment that they would usually have had trouble obtaining.

The Chess Club was one of the most successful clubs in our school, and yet it's one of the lesser known clubs of the school. Why? It is probably because chess is such a difficult game to understand; and because of the difficulties in the game, it is meant for only a select group of people.

Quill & Scroll

Quill & Scroll is an honor society for journalism students. To be on Quill & Scroll, you must be at least a sophomore, be on a publication staff, and have a recommendation from the advisor of the publication staff you are on. The members of Quill & Scroll are Tricia Clarke, Jeff Lucier, Bonnie Leib, Shannon Martin, Lara Honrada, Meg Woods, Lori Dolby, and Rick Hardy.

SOCIAL STUDIES HONOR SOCIETY

The Social Studies Honor Society is an honor society for students who excel in this area. The requirements are: four recommendations from various teachers, a 4.5 grade point average in your social studies class, and an overall grade point average of 3.5. On the 7th of November, the Social Studies Honor Society had an induction ceremony. Those inducted were: Carlton Apgar, Cindy Appel, Allison Arnold, Jesse Crane, Adam Cummins, Judith Davidow, Kenneth Deuel, Craig Doheny, Kerry Lizbeth Douma, Lisa Eichers, Natalie Gabrea, Annemarie Glover, Britta Granrud, Richard Hardy, Divi Harris, Bruce Hickey, Linda Thi Hong, Chrissy Hult, Peter Jones, Surpei John, Rachel Kahan, Michael Koehl, Michelle Koehl, John Larson, Nicole Lautt, Bonnie Leib, Karla Lobo, Malee Lucas, Paul Lucas, Andrew Macadam, Justin McCrary, Kim Mihner, Kelly Munley, Hung Nguyen, Timothy Novosel, Suzanne Ortuno, Troy PafenBerg, Becky Penning, Justin Perez, Tracy Pilot, Jennifer Rice, Steven Robinson, Matt Seidman, Mana Skukla, Kim Tennes, Shirley Truong, Jenny Vargas, Chris Velo, Mark Waters, Emily Williams, Karen Wood, Megan Woods and the continuing members are: Brian Burns, Megan Callahan, Jennifer Gilbert, Emily Kelly, Zane Kerby, Jeanette Lavere, Jeff Lucifer, Kim McKenzie, Yvonne McNees, Jai Mitchell, and Brian O'Leary.

Academics

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society was formed to recognize students for their outstanding academic ability and their involvement in extracurricular activities. It helps students become aware of problems in our society.

They have to have a certain number of hours and to keep an above average grade point average to remain in the National Honor Society.

The procedure to be accepted into this club is difficult. They must have a high GPA and participate in many extracurricular activities. To be in this club is an honor and Junior Lisa Eichers says "It was difficult to get in but I'm glad I have a chance to participate in the community."

Student Council Association is an organization to allow students to participate and to plan some activities that go on during the year. Among these activities are two blood drives, a can food drive, Thanksgiving Assembly, and the organization of Spirit Week and the Homecoming Parade. Vice President Ginger Harvey says "I'm glad I have the opportunity to help make decisions and to participate in school activities."

In addition to the President and Vice Presidents they are the Senators from all four classes. Senior senators are Megan Callahan, Lara Honrado, and Rafael Fortiz. Junior senators are Brendan Hollan, Jeremy Rinker, and Jorge Obando. Sophomore senators are Betsy Steven-son, Kelly Munly, and Ghita Harris. Freshman senators are Greg Pons, Andy Crane. Tony Brawner.

ART, PHOTOGRAPHY, AND DRAMA ART

The Art Department at Washington Lee has gained students' interests. The beginning students have learned to do a great deal in the Art department. In the first semester only some of the Art 1 students learned how to do optical illusions, rhythm designs, make masks, and many more creative projects. The art students ranging from Art 1 to Advanced Placement Art all participated in painting garden murals for the Ballston Metro Area.

Freshman Rana Murshed said, "Working on the murals was a fun but difficult job." The murals were put on display and there was even a garden party for all students that participated.

Photography

The photography classes at Washington Lee are prospering very quickly. This year we have two teachers teaching photography — Mr. Bruce Fleicher and Mrs. Yvonne Carmichael. Since the department at W-L is growing so rapidly, our equipment has been updated.

A fundraiser was held in the beginning of the year so as to get new and better equipment, as well as to provide black and white film for the students. There were two photo 11 classes this year and both were full of exceptional photographers. Mounted pictures made by the students, hanging on a wall in the main office. Obviously, these students are very talented and creative — two necessary ingredients for a great program.

Drama Club

The Drama Club this year was led by President Nicole Poulin, Vice-President Steve McClemon, Secretary Lori Dolby, and Treasurer Chris Donahue. Although the club was fairly small, the drama club managed to do a lot. The play in the fall was "The Imaginary Invalid," with only twelve cast members. The Spring production was the musical, "Grease" which is a well-known play among the students. Both, as always, were successes.

MADRIGALS

This year's 1989-1990 Madrigals had nineteen members. The Madrigals had many performances in and out of school. They sang at Back to School Night, The Social Studies Honor Society Induction Ceremony, and as always, at the Christmas Bazaar. To entertain others, they performed at the Department of Agriculture to celebrate Hispanic Week, and the National Gallery of Art for the Christmas Stamp Dedication Service, Lee's Mansion, and many more places. For fundraising, these talented musicians, under the direction of Ms. Carr.

Lotta Parr, held car washes in the summer and also planned on selling recordings of the Madrigals at the Christmas Bazaar, among other things.

Senior Rick Schall said, "With the talent we possess, there's no reason the Madrigal group should not go far and be successful." Lori Dolby said "I think this year's group will be very successful, and will, of course, beat out the Mads from those other schools!" And indeed, the Mads are an extremely talented group.

CHORUS

The Washington-Lee Chorus has grown considerably since the Arlington County School System added the seven period day. Students were required to sign up for a fine arts class and many students chose to take Chorus. In this class, the students learned musical scales, songs, and breathing exercises, and eventually had their own concerts. They learned the basics of music and singing from Ms. Parr.

CHOIR

Choir students consisted of not only students who had to try out, but also the Macdugals. The Choir is also under the direction of Ms. Parr. The Choir co-presidents are Tracy Pilot and Ginger Harvey. The Vice President is Kari Coughlin, Treasurer Jagdeep Sehmi, Row manager Susan Bennett and directors Betsy Stevenson and Susan Southerland.

The choir this year planned on many different fundraisers for their trip to Tappan Zee, New York, where they will lodge with the members of the Tappan Zee choir. "In choir we are doing many different fields of music which makes it a fun and interesting class," says Annemarie Glover.

Orchestra

The Washington-Lee Orchestra consists of musicians on string instruments. There are eleven musicians in the W-L Orchestra. The musicians practice everyday during fourth period to prepare for the three concerts they perform every year. The concerts are at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and in the Spring. "Orchestra is a cultural experience for me," says violinist Sukho Song. The orchestra also competes in All-County Orchestra against other area schools. The Washington-Lee Orchestra is a successful musical group. Anne Spouck/Hargreaves

Marching Band

The Beat Goes On!

The marching band plays a huge part in raising our school spirit here at W.L. Participating in the band requires hardworking, dedicated musicians. Preparing for the games, competitions, and performances demands at least 2 hours of practice every day. But it's not all work! Everyone in the band enjoys their fun times together. "We work hard, but the outcome is awesomer" says band member Sarah Street. Yes Sarah, we agree.

German Honor Society

The German Honor Society recognizes those selected students that are outstanding in German. The students in the German Honor Society are also participants in the German Club.

The German Honor Society is a group of students who display a high understanding of German. To be a member you must have a 3.5 or higher grade point average in German. First year students must have an overall 3.0 grade point average.

German Club

German Club is a very popular club this year at W-L. Their meetings are very prosperous and are always planning something for the club to do. Junior Ron Northrip says "The German Club is awesome this year. We're doing a lot this year (mostly partying)." At the beginning of the year the German Club took a chartered bus to Bush Gardens, they gobbowling often, and always participate in the Christmas Bazaar selling their famous Knockwurst and sauerkraut. Freshman Greg Pons states "we're always planning something new and exciting to do. # LATIN CLUB

Caveat Dicent!

Such was the theme of the hit movie "Dead Poets Society" and such is the theme of the Latin Club.

Our school's Latin Club is an extension of the Virginia Junior Classical League, which is an further extension of the National Junior Classical League, an organization dedicated to making Latin enjoyable to everyone. This year's club consisted of many officers who helped out at various club activities. The three consuls, or presidents, were Tonya Pruitt, Owen Emery, and Paul Lucas. The two vice-consuls were John Larson and Su-Pei Jou. Secretary was Sugar Strawn, and treasurer was Bonnie Leib. The three senators who rounded out the remaining posts were Till Havercamp, Kamrun Arif, and Anne Snouck-Hergronje.

With this many officers, meetings can often get hectic, which it often did; but it was always fun. This year's meetings followed the example set by previous years and was held at nearby Pizza Hut. There, many fund-raising ideas were tossed around. Collaborations with other clubs were also discussed, such as the bowling tournament with the German Club.

Along with their sponsor, Patricia Wilkerson, the officers and members have made this one of the most successful year never.

FRENCH CLUB AND FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY

The French Club is a popular club among students. They have numerous activities to keep them busy. Among these activities are their movie parties, candy sales of different types of French candy. They had a table at the Christmas Bazaar that was very successful. Selling the traditional French crepes.

The French Honor Society is an organization formed to recognize outstanding individuals in the French language. They have to maintain a B average and be in at least French II.

Spanish Club and Honor Society

The Spanish Club is a club for students who are particularly interested in the Spanish culture. The club is comprised mainly of students who study Spanish, however anyone who is interested is encouraged to join. The club sponsors activities that further the knowledge of the students about the Spanish culture. The club is sponsored by Señora Rondon, who teaches Spanish here at W-L. The club's officers are: President — Ginger Harvey, Vice-President — Tracy Pilot, Secretary — Tricia Clark, and the treasurer is Eduardo Contreras.

The Spanish Honor Society is a society for students who excel in Spanish. Tracy Pilot is president, Jeff Lucier is vice-president, Melia Arnold is secretary, and Thomas Hill is treasurer.

It's Academic

Correct!

It's incredible how much enjoyment one word can give you. Yet if you were in the It's Academic Club, it was the only word you would ever want to hear.

Once again under the coaching of Mr. Englishman, this year's club attracted not only the brilliant minds of the returning members but also the minds of a group of eager new members.

Members of the club met every Friday in Mr. Englishman's room. There, they held mock Academic meets; and the top three players were chosen to represent the school. The first meet for the select team was in December, a meet in which the team did considerably well against tough competition.

What does this mean to you? Well, it means that the It's Academic Club is not just for "brains"; it is a fun and exciting club for everyone, especially those who enjoy to be intellectually challenged.

Undisputedly Dedicated

Our school has a group of unsung heroes who battle it out with both public and private schools alike. However, unlike the football team, these combatants receive no credit whatsoever. This is of course the W-L Debate team; and leading this brave group are co-captains Justin McCrary and Mike Signer. Along with their coach, Mr. Harocopoulos, they have led their team to the battlefields of verbal combat.

International and Pan American Club

The International Club at Washington-Lee was formed to promote cultural harmony in our school. This year's sponsor is Mr. Mouldi Hadji. The president is Suzanne Ortuno. Kim McKenzie was the winner of this year's Miss International contest. The runners up were Tracy Pilot and Becky Penning. The contest is based on personality, academic standing, and extra-curricular activities. When asked how she felt about being chosen Miss International, Kim McKenzie replied, quite simply, "Wow." The Pan American club has been very successful this year. Some of their fund raisers include candy sales and a table at the Christmas Bazaar. This club gives the students a chance to learn about Latin American heritage and culture.

Snow flying, hair streaming, the wind blowing in your face ... if you enjoy any of those feelings, take a look at the W.L. Ski Club.

Like its predecessors, this year's Club also offered various ski activities for its members. With both day and weekend trips many members found it hard not to have gone on at least one of the trips; thus, making this year's club one of the most successful ever. # D.A.R.E.

DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) is offered to sixth graders in the Arlington County Elementary Schools. Students of Washington Lee who were members of this program spoke to the elementary school students about drugs, peer pressure, and other issues awaiting the young students in the near future. DARE is a drug prevention program offered by the Arlington County Police Department in conjunction with Arlington Alcohol and Drug Program. The students went to three training sessions to prepare for the program.

The sponsor for the program is Ms. Carol Hawkens, Washington Lee's Substance Abuse Outreach Counselor. The DARE program at WL has been helpful and will continue its success with many years to come. Surely, DARE marks a sign of the Times.

Pursuing the Finer Things in Life

ELOS is the honor society for arts and literature. Like most honor societies, the competition for inclusion is hard. In order to become a member, a candidate must submit a piece of work that is either artistic or literary, to the faculty member who is in charge of that subject. Once in the club, members can expect group trips to various museums, the theater, or any other activity that might pertain to the club.

COE is one of the many co-curricular clubs that operate here at WL; co-curricular means that unlike other clubs, the club conducts all its business during class instead of after school. This helps the members tremendously, because they will always be able to attend the meetings. Co-curricular clubs are very good in that they place members in actual work situations; and they participate in every other "normal" club activity. The club's main goal is to raise enough money for the yearly Employer Employee Banquet held every year.

This year, the club was once again sponsored by Mrs. Levine, who also teaches Office Technology II; the class to which the club is linked. Due to the fact that the club/class is co-curricular, students often received early release, so that they may get to work on time. # BLUE & GRAY

A Sign of Your Time

Everyday, Blue and Gray meets in room 217 seventh period to begin working on their next deadline. The Publications room is always filled with a lot of busy students writing, typing, drawing, and making noise (especially making noise). To many, it may sound like a lot of fun and an easy "A," but once students join the crew, they realize that a lot of extra time and effort go into making the Blue and Gray.

Not only is the average yearbook student required to be creative in writing and drawing, the staff member must complete his/her task within a short time period. The student is required to write copy, draw layouts and crop pictures. He/she should also expect to remain after school for many hours until his/her deadline is fully completed. The extra responsibility of getting pictures of events, clubs, and sports, on time for a deadline, falls on a few unfortunate souls on the staff. Along the way, extra help comes from the advisor, Mrs. Marty Axiotis who is required to proofread the entire yearbook, and the editors: Editor-in-Chief — Lori Dolby (Nerlie), Student Life Editor — Rick Hardy (Chess King), Sports Editor — E.J. ## Signs of Victory

Sports, Sports, Sports! On almost any day of the year somewhere in Washington-Lee you could find someone wearing something that had the logo of some sport from the school. There was always a crew tee-shirt, or a soccer jacket, or a football jersey, or a cheerleader outfit. Sports play a big part in the lives of the Generals. Many students participate in at least one sport, many in more than one. And those that don't participate come to the games, and meets, and regattas to cheer their classmates on to victory.

The Generals had a very successful year in sports. The football team won 4 games, more than they have won in last few years. The crew teams had another successful year. And the basketball team proved that it didn't have to have the Wither's there to give its opponents a run for the money.

The sports program is very strong at Washington-Lee. It demonstrates to all the area "big schools" that it is not necessary to have a lot of people to form a successful team. It is quality, not quantity, that counts when building a winning team. And that is just what the General's are, a winning team. So if you happened to be on one of the teams at Washington-Lee that didn't have as successful a season as you had hoped, don't worry, because all that those victories and defeats represent are SIGNS OF THE TIMES!

There were only four returning members, so everybody had to work together and get along. "We all became good friends," said both Amy McFarland and Christine Rivero.

The JV squad got off to a late start and had many make-up games. "It was tough," said Amy McFarland, but everything finally came together and all their hard work paid off.

The girls led by captain Nataki Green and co-captain Joanne Ramirez, were all very spirited and it was obvious they were having a good time. Christine Rivero summed it all up, "It was fun!"

The 1989-90 Freshman Cheerleaders decreased in size, but increased in experience and enthusiasm this year. The squad lost three members and got off to a late start, but they're making up for it. Coach Mary Causey stated, "Although they got off to a late start, they're going to be good!"

Indeed, they are. The girls have worked really hard and have gotten things together and it shows. They got over performing in front of a crowd and outside for the first time, and became at ease in no time. The girls also cheered the Freshman Football team on to many victories.

Captain Keisha Briscoe and newcomer to cheerleading, Sue Sorrell both agreed that it was a "really fun year."

Football

Signs of Improvement

This year was an inspirational year for the Generals Varsity Football team. The team finished the season with a record of five wins, five loses and no ties. The varsity team played smart football which enabled them to have many nominated district players. Some of these included Tony Bentley and Danny Marcey, for first team all district. There were many other players that were nominated either for second team all district or for honorable mention.

The competition of the other teams was fierce, but the Generals still excelled. Some of the stronger competitors in our division were teams such as Annandale, Jeb Stuart and long time rival Yorktown. Rob Lowry stated "the competition was strong, but this team still managed an excellent season."

Coach Muskett and staff did an excellent job this year. With the arrival of former Redskin, Virgil Seay, the Generals added a strong passing game to give them a good name in the district for this year and for years to come.

Signs of Victory

This year's Junior Varsity Football team proved to be a tough group of Generals. The team, although occasionally overshadowed by the Varsity's victories, was successful in its own right. The team worked hard all year and ended the season with an impressive record of six wins, and three loses.

The team was again coached by Mike Murry, and Chris Rodger. This year's team captains were Andre McFail and Brian Michael. The Junior Varsity team had several gifted players and will donate much talent to next year's Varsity team.

Time to Start Fresh

The Freshmen Football team had a great season this year. They performed well together all season ending with a winning record of five wins, two defeats, and one tie. The team was coached this year by Jim Mon and Rick Cauthen.

Said Coach Mon of his team: "We had an outstanding season, we were blessed with many talented freshmen. This is one of the few years of many that I can remember when the majority of the squad participated in the games."

Cross Country

Time to Run

The Washington-Lee Cross Country team continued its expansion this year. At its peak the team contained thirteen members of the mens' team and three on the womens'. The team was very close-knit and had a lot of fun, in addition to working hard. Running an average of four miles a day, the team strengthened quickly. The mens' team was in contention for several meets, and finished the season with a good showing in Districts. Two runners, Adam Cummins and Pat Mathias, advanced to Regionals.

The team was again coached by Eric Hill. It was lead by Captain Brian Burns. Having had a fantastic season this year, returning members are looking forward to an even better one next year.

Girls' Tennis

Time To Swing

The 1989-90 Girls Tennis team has done a terrific job this year. Their record improved tremendously since the last five years and they worked more together as a team.

Coach Lorenzo Alexander comments "It is a learning process as a group." This is Coach Alexander's first high school team and says the girls "are teaching me things the same as I am teaching them." The only expectation Coach Alexander had for the team was to have a good season.

To lead the team this year were Allison Arnold and Lisa D'Ambrosio as the team captains. Allison Arnold said "we had a lot of fun, and even though our record doesn't show it, we played to our potential." All the players expressed how pleased they were with the new coach Alexander "even though it was his first year he taught us a lot and got us to play with much enthusiasm." The top player for this season was junior Caroline Pons. "It's improved since last year! We were excited about our new coach who has helped us to improve and to enjoy tennis more. ## Fore!

The 1989-90 Golf team had the best season of their existence. They finished the year with one win and seven loses. The Golf team was coached this year by Mr. Jim Hatch.

The team competed against eight teams this year. These teams included Chantilly, Yorktown and Falls Church. A prominent member of the Golf team, Jeremy Rinker, was quoted as saying, "the competition between the schools was fierce, but we beat a few teams."

Though the Golf team has few members it looks to have a promising next year. Tim Billings summed it up best by saying, "most of the people on the team will be coming back next year, it doesn't look too bad."

The 1989-90 Drill Team had an exciting year. They got new uniforms and a new coach, Ms. Brenda Harris.

The Drill Team could be seen practicing after school on the football field and their efforts were evident at home games. The girls added something special to the halftime shows with their interesting flag formations.

The members of the Drill Team also had another job — keeping spirits up. When not performing, they could be seen up in the bleachers cheering with the rest of the crowd. They were also present at every away game.

The Drill Team was a visible and important part of the football games and we look forward to seeing more of them.

Times certainly have changed, especially for the 1989-1990 Boys' Varsity Basketball Team. This year's team is led by Coach John Phillips, who seems to have a positive effect on his players. ## Dunkin' it

The 1989-90 J.V. Boys' Basketball team had a very exciting year. As of January 22, 1990, the team had 5 wins and 0 losses district record and 8 wins and 4 losses overall. Although the team worked well together, there were many outstanding individual stars. Three of these stars were: Peter Stephen, Mike Poteet, and Terry Mangum. In response to the question of how the team is doing right now, Peter Stephen said "we're playing good ball right now and if we keep playing like this we've got a good chance of winning the district." The players on the team are not the only ones who think W-L can win the district. The team is favored to win the district by some of the critics.

The team was coached by Jim Hatch. Coach Hatch has been coaching for a long time, and his experience has shown on these players. Coach Hatch said that "if the team continues to hustle and play good defense we will continue to win." With the great players, an experienced coach, and outstanding fan support the team has a very good chance of grasping hold of the district title.

Hoop Time

The Frosh Boys' Basketball Team had a very productive year. The team, as of the middle of January, had a district record of 2 wins and 3 losses. And had an overall record of 5 wins and 6 losses. The Freshmen team was coached by newcomer Ken Williams. Although this was his first year coaching at W-L, he coached the varsity team at Quantico High School in Quantico, VA. ## Shooting For the Best

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team got off to a bumpy start this year. Though losing two of their first three games to South Lakes and Chantilly, the team showed a lot of determination and teamwork. Coach Lori Grimm said that, "heads up ball is a big key in getting a good defense and increased rebounding skills." She went on to say, "with work on the fundamentals the team hopes to be in the top four in the district."

Even though the team has very good team skills they also have many good individual players. Some of these players were Lisa D'ambrosio, Kirsten Hilliard, Shawny Somers and Tracy Bennett. ## Junior Varsity

Time to Play

The 1989-90 Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team experienced a transitional year. The great number of freshmen players contributed to the lack of experience. However they exerted a great amount of effort to make up for the inexperience.

The team was coached by Rich Cauthan this year. He stressed the fundamentals of the game in order to prepare his team with the proper skills for game situations. Although team skills were emphasized to the players, individual skills were also stressed. With the great majority of players returning next year, the team looks forward to a more productive season.

Time Runs On

The Washington-Lee Indoor Track team had a terrific season this year. The team, coached by Eric Hill and Butch Britain, had its largest turnout in recent history. There were many strong runners for both short and long distances. The newcomers combined with the experienced runners to form a solid and formidable team. The team worked hard lifting weights and running miles. They practiced at the T.J. Community Center, where they would attend track meets on the weekends. With such a sizable and strong team W-L was in contention for every meet it entered.

Junior Andrew MacAdam said of the Indoor Track team: "This year's team was really strong. We had a good mix of returning runners and incoming underclassmen who did real well for us. We're looking forward to another strong season next year."

Wrestling

A Time to "Go Hard or Go Home."

The 1989-1990 wrestlers are tough. Although the season has just begun they have been faced with many obstacles. Meets have been cancelled or delayed. The team is smaller than usual. There have been injuries. People have quit. However, the team remains strong and united. Everybody suffers through the long and tough practices together. They have become a really close team and are supportive of each other. They are working hard and working together to overcome their obstacles.

Coach Jim Mon said, "Though we are short in number, we anticipate at least five of our Varsity wrestlers to advance into Regionals." He also went on to say, "To paraphrase a familiar quote — it is not the size of the dog in the fight but the size of the fight in the dog; therefore, we expect to 'Go Hard or Go Home'."

The motto of the team proves just how serious and tough they are. They remain a force to be reckoned with.

Time to Swim

The Washington-Lee Swim team had a very strong season this year. The team had a sizable turnout, the likes of which were unseen in previous years. The coaches, Mark Turner and Jim Thomas, had many new swimmers to work with. The boys' team was led by veteran swimmers John Larson and Steve Wells. The captains for the girls' team were Elizabeth Gurney, and Tammi Mazer.

The swim team practiced hard, working out every day after school. The swimmers were dedicated and willing to work. They still managed to have fun however, occasionally taking time out to play water polo.

Said Esther Drance of the Swim team — "We had our largest turnout in years. There were a lot of new faces, all of them willing to work hard."

Rifle

Signs of Perfection

The 1989-90 Washington-Lee Rifle team underwent a rebuilding season. The team had much to worry about, because of the graduation of two of its strong shooters. The team did not have to worry very long, because three other shooters stepped up in to the vacant team spots. The shooters were: Mike Callahan, Maggie Daniel and Mike Hurt. Scott Heuser, co-captain of the team, said about the new team members, "the team needed some help this year and with these new team members we got it."

The team was coached this year by Mr. George Harris. With the good job he has done with past rifle teams the year looks very promising. ## Hitting all the Bases

The 1989-90 Boys' Varsity Baseball Team is hoping to have an outstanding season this year. Coached by Dan Potosky and Mike Murray, the team is hoping to have the kind of year that they are capable of having. The definition of a capable year, according to team member Rob Lowry, is "a team that will win districts, place very high in the region, and then go to the state championships." Although these are high expectations they can be met. A main reason for this positive thinking is because of the great number of returning players. Eight members of last year's team returned for this season. Some of these were: Drew Trapnell, Rob Lowry, Charleton Apgar, Mike Cowell, and Pat Bransford. With the returning players and the positive thinking in the team, they can only win.

Time to Hit

The J.V. Boys' Baseball team should have a very good team this year. The team underwent a rebuilding season last year. Because of this the team has strengthened itself with the profusion of returning players. Some of these included Ethan Ritz, Scott Newton, and Greg Pons. Although last year's team had a disappointing season, this year's team has improved greatly over last year, and looks a lot better. The improvement in the team can be attributed to new coach, Mr. Grove. His new coaching techniques and enthusiasm has breathed new life into the team and the individual players. This experience was brought back by Shelby McGovern, Joanne Dufrane, and Allison Arnold. Shelby McGovern said, "I hope that this year's team can improve over last year's three win and ten lose record." She continued by saying, "with the number of returning people a better record than 3 and 10 is very possible." Along with returning members, the team also had a few new recruits. ## Staying On Track

Thanks to an unseasonably warm spring, the 1990 Washington-Lee Track and Field team got off to a roaring start. The team, which was smaller than usual, had to work hard to compensate for its lack of members. The athletes practiced hard every day and showed well in local competitions. The student athletes were led by a coaching staff comprised of Eric Hill, Butch Britain, and Mary Causey. Although the team was small they were strong and determined to win. This determination was visible during track meets and earned the team much respect.

Varsity

Let's Kick It

The 1989-1990 Varsity Boy's Soccer team shaped up to be one of the finest squads ever put together. They possessed a blistering offensive attack that was accented by possibly the best midfielder in the district, Marius Reikras. Marius Reikras was supported by seasoned veterans Edwin Girson and Celer Delgado. Proven in actual competition Celer Delgado according to Coach Smith and Coach May was a definite asset to the team. The team holds high regards for the coach, "Smitty is a good coach and is working us real hard this year and expects us to have a great season," said returning player Jose Bonilla. All of this, combined with some very talented younger players resulted in a successful season for our 1990 Varsity Soccer team.

Junior Varsity

*In practice . . .
In play . . .*

Under the direction of coach John May the 1990 boys' junior varsity soccer team had a great season. With the help of co-captains Arthur Nicholias and Saul Mendez the soccer team worked hard at their sport. To many of the team members soccer is all important, and being welcomed onto the team is a dream come true. The team practiced for at least two hours a day. Drills included running the field, dribbling, and scrimmages. The team succeeded with hard work and determination. The team was and still is dedicated to winning, and we can be sure that they will reach even further heights in the future.

Varsity

Signs of Talent

The 1990 Girl's Varsity Soccer Team was an outstanding team. They had a strong season with many very talented players. The team's captain, Lisa D'Ambrosio, as well as Andi Mason, were both four-year Varsity players. There was also the "Dynamic Duo" of sisters Melia and Kristina Arnold. If that wasn't enough, there was Ashley Golden, a sophomore, who had played twice on the Junior Olympic State Soccer Team. Coach Judy Watson had nothing but praise for her players and claimed they were "all very good and solid soccer players." Melanie Sigros, goalie, agreed and commented at the beginning of the season, "We're going to give some of the strong teams a good game."

Junior Varsity

A Real Kick

As a result of the scrimmages the Girls JV Soccer team promised to have a spectacular season. Sara Street, former captain and halfback of the team says "The team is very promising! We showed a lot of potential. I think they'll pull together and hopefully have a successful and winning season!"

"Playing soccer teaches you how to communicate with others and to try to be the best. The main part of soccer is working as a team!" stated foreback Kerri Mallon.

The team was short a few members but was helped by La Shawn (Goalie) Kerri (Foreback), and Kelli (Captain) Mallon seasoned veterans at this sport. They played in the '89' season. "We were short a couple of people last season, but, we were still good. Besides, we did the best we could," replied Kerri.

The girls put a lot of effort in their games and the season reflected on the amount of school spirit the school showed. The team members had confidence in their coach, teammates, and themselves. "Krisha Briscoe, Sandra Rojas, and Maria Viteri did remarkable well last season. And I also think Coach Turner was and still is the best coach!" stated Tania Murillo enthusiastically. "Yeah Coach Turner had a lot of confidence in us. He pushed us to do the best we could, and that is what we did," said another team member.

The girls practiced at 3:00 pm every day except weekends at Field Park where they began running for twenty minutes, then stretched for ten minutes until 5:00 pm.

Crew

A Stroke In Time

The Washington-Lee Men's Crew team continued its rowing tradition for the forty-first year. The team was once again led by head coach Charlie Butt. Mr. Butt, in this his forty-first year of coaching, was assisted by George Kirschbaum and Nancy Butt. The men would row on the Potomac each day after school, and on Saturdays. Practices lasted for two to three hours and were extremely vigorous. However, the strenuous nature of the workouts was offset by the enjoyment of being on the river and a part of the outdoors. The boats all worked hard and were once again a formidable force on the water.

The men's crew team in conjunction with the women's team withdrew from the Northern Virginia Scholastic Rowing Association this year. This move brought the regattas back to the Potomac (as they had been in previous years.) Such a move allowed Washington-Lee greater competition which boosted the competitive drive of the rowers and coaches. This competition strengthened the team, and made the season both interesting and exciting. The team was led by heavyweight captain Steve Robinson, and lightweights Adam Cummins, and Chris Velo.

Girls'

"Walking 'em"

The 1989-90 Girls Crew season was individually successful. Tom Chisnel, the girls crew coach, has headed the girls program for 16 years. This year the Washington-Lee Crew Program pulled out of the Northern Virginia Scholastic Rowing Association (NVRSA). This change brought about new and more advanced competition.

Many of the girls spoke about long practices, some were at 5:00 in the morning. Senior Crew Captain, Nicole Droitsch, says Crew is a time-consuming sport, but well worth it. The girls' first race on the Potomac was on March 31st and ended very strongly. Senior Captain Michelle Geiger said "We had a tough time getting together at the beginning of the season, but once we did we had a very good season." All the girls are looking forward returning to crew next year, or following the sport in college.

TO MY BOYS AND 2 LADIES — CONGRATULATIONS!

Tony B. #19 — Hey man — it's been a great year. We had a lot of fun during football and basketball. Never forget that Fairfax game where you made the most amazing catch I've ever seen. Keep up the tenacious "D" in basketball and stay in touch throughout the years — and remember 1st team for you but what did I get???

Darnell #36 — What's up man? We had a lot of fun this year during football. I wish you would have played another sport. Keep up with all them girls and one day you'll find one that's real special for you. Keep in touch next year and come back to see some football games.

Lisa — Hey girl! Look — I'm glad we got to be friends last year and thanks for putting up with me for the past 2 years. Never forget B/F/F/W/O/K and love ya bye. We had a lot of fun this year and I'm gonna miss you next year. Make sure you keep in touch — always remember Me and Jimbo loves you.

Jimmy #46 — Hey big Jimbo. What is going on? You guys are leaving me here all by myself. Jimmy — We had so much fun this year. Football was the best. Going out with Kathy and Lisa was just as good. I've never seen anybody play fullback like you. Jim — stick with it and I'll be watching you every Sunday or Monday night! I'm never gonna forget you — keep in touch — cause I ain't making no noise next year! I just can't call it.

Kathy — Hey girl — my one and only. I've been going out with you for almost 2 years now and I love you just as much as the first day I saw you. I love you to death Kathy and you are really special to me. Have fun at college next year — but not too much fun. I'll be here waiting. School just ain't gonna be the same without you — I love you and I always will.

Can you believe the year is over? Doesn't it seem like yesterday the year began? By now you might be wondering why I typed this page upside down and why I bought a whole page ad. First, I just wanted to do something original and second, all those on the yearbook staff know that a whole page ad counts as two ads when you have to sell seven. This will also save time when I'm writing in people's yearbooks.

So many things have happened this year. We've had so much fun! Where to begin? Thumper KK: It's Kings Dominion, parties, etc)! Next year anyone's got bigger, think of me, but just don't tell anyone! So: YOU BLONDE! I'm sure softball was a ball (ha ha)! You were always there to help me go to Rite Aid. God, I'll never forget that! Keep your hair and body and you'll always be J-O-A-N-N-E! To my "sis": We should always stay in touch! I would be lost without you! You are the best! Turbo: You'll always be my brother, we've shared a lot! NED: I'm glad we don't have to worry about the Multis anymore! Neecole: "I have a wonderful personality." NP 1-22-90 You can read me like a book. Dina: What can I say? Harry President: I'll always be your First Lady. I can't wait until July 1, 1995. A lot will be said later. Don't forget pages 22 and 23.

General Football Memories

- HERBERT “ALMOST” PEREZ: 6 inches short of 6 points (JEFFERSON)
- DARREN “J.V. KILLER” GREGORY: I bet you’ll never forget the J.V. runningback, and we’ll never forget the famous fumble recovery (Fairfax). By the way, have you gone to the beach lately?
- MIKE “THE BACK-UP” BENNETT: Keeping J.A.’s hands warm
- MAURICIO SOTO: Can’t hang club.
- JASON “THE SACKING MACHINE” BLACKBOURNE: The famous Stacy Turner sack (Yorktown)
- MIKE “TELL THE DEFENSE THE PLAYS” COWELL: I’ll never forget those incredible T.D. passes, and I’m sure going to miss your hands!
- ETHAN “CLIPPER/WRINKLES” RITZ: I couldn’t forget my railroad call, and your CHOO-CHOO call — Lineman Pride
- JAMES “J.P.” PARKER: All the hard hits during the season
- BRIAN O’LEARY: Can’t hang club
- JULIO “J.A.” ANDRADE: Leading the GREEN MACHINE in battle
- ANDRE “SPEEDY” MCFAIL: I asked you to stop whistling nicely!
- MARK “MY SWEETHEART” EDMONDS: How about that J.V. nose guard in practice? — Lineman Pride —
- ROB “MUMMY” LOWRY: Gee coach, is it mine or Wallace’s turn to run the play in? And NO, you’re not a lineman!
- DUANE “HIPLESS” D.: Sorry about the hip. At least we got to see an ambulance up close.
- CHRIS “GREEN MACHINE” GILROY: Coach, what position should I play today?
- JOE “SCARECROW/SHIKA-ZULU” MOTEN: I could have sworn the wind was going to sweep you away that day in practice.
- RAPHAEL CLARK: Can’t hang club
- COREY “TWEET” BIRDSONG: Always laying around on the job (Fairfax/Jefferson)
- MIKE “SIT WITH ME COACH” EPPS: Doing your thing on punt returns.
- RICHARD “BUTTERFINGERS” HARDY: I know it was our Freshman year, but you missed two in a row!
- TONY TAKE A PICTURE OF ME” BENTLEY: I’ll never forget your sprawling acrobatic catches (Fairfax, Yorktown) and making us laugh during practice.
- BRIAN “THE PIMP” MICHAEL: J.V. or Varsity Coach? Make up your mind!
- PAT “STA-TEN” STEIN: The Special Teams expert.
- HORACE “BUCK” WILLIS: To all your great catches, and all the jokes in the locker room before practice.

- WALLACE “CORN DOG” CARTER: I never did understand; Why Corn Dog??
- JAY “TO COOL” KATYEL: To all the Smart-__ comments during the season.
- MARIUS “WHAT’S A FOOTBALL” R.: Always starting a fight (Wakefield).
- RICARDO “YOUR MAMA” ALGER: Never going to forget Duane’s B-Day bash in the locker room, and I’ll never forget the “ROYAL RUMBLE” between THE BEAST and you! — Lineman Pride.
- JEFF “KID VISCIOUS” E.: The famous onside kick (Fairfax) and the Wakefield Homecoming “Dog Pile.” And to all the nasty things that were said while pressing for practice.
- ZANE “DON’T SWEEP MY WAY” KERBY: Do you remember this phrase: “Get it, Get it! Pitch it, Pitch it! Get it, Get it!” (JEFFERSON)? And to all the crushing QB sacks & tackles that you laid on the opposing team.
- MANCINI “BOOM-BOOM” GASKILL: Playing hard on every play, and making us laugh with all your jokes.
- JIMMY “JIMBO” WILLIAMS: “All Aboard!”, that sounds familiar. And to the times we ran around the banner before the game and ticked the cheerleaders off! And to all the hard running you did.
- ERNEST “THE FOOT” RODRIGUEZ: The Gaithersburg game’s winning extra point.
- NELSON “HELP DAN WITH THE DEFENSIVE PLAYS” VASQUAZE: To all the great defensive work this season, and how could we forget Coach Apple.
- JAHN “MY ANKLE HURTS ME” TIGER: That overload left did give you a lot of trouble didn’t it? But I’ll let it slide — Lineman Pride.
- ELLIS “MY OTHER SWEETHEART” MALAVE: To all the double teaming with me and all the calls we had to make on the line. And the day Tony found out that you were only a Junior, He couldn’t believe it.
- TYRELL “MAN-CHILD” CHAPMAN: Always jumping on the loose balls on defense. I’ll never forget seeing you for the first time during the summer, and finding out you were only a Sophomore!
- DARRELL “WHAT NUMBER DID YOU SAY, 36” GANT: To all the sweet hits and tackles that you laid on the other teams. And being the lover of the team.
- GEORGE “THE BEAST” RUSSELL: All I have to say is three words: “All-District Shoulder” I’m sure you were on my team, and like you said “That’s why ya lost the game.”
- LAMONTE “THE FOOD CONNISSEUR” WASHINGTON: To all the times after the football games at McDonald’s. And to all those “HARD” hits of yours!

Jai Mitchell can't believe that this is the end of the yearbook, or the end of the year, or the end of his Washington-Lee career!!

A group of students conclude the day by trekking up the stairs toward their lockers.

The Final Sign

With the end of this year comes the end of this book, but only the beginning of the memories. Yeah, yeah, I know, "What memories?" But admit it, the seniors will always remember the old pressbox, and the college applications, and the poetry analysis. The juniors can't forget the car washes, the fact they couldn't go out to lunch . . . legally, and the anticipation of being seniors. The sophomores think about how there are only two more years to go, and who liked who, and driver's ed., and all that great stuff. And the freshmen will never be able to forget being picked on, and those directions to class on the third floor, and those few upper classmen who were actually NICE, and their first W-L football game. So DON'T think of this as the end, think of it as the beginning. It's the beginning of a new decade, the beginning of summer, of vacation, of all those great and not so great memories involving school and friends. And just remember when you look back at this book that everyone is human, everyone has feelings, and EVERYONE makes mistakes (see what I mean?). So if there is a part of this book which was not what you expected, or if your name was misspelled, or there were not many pictures of you, just remember all those things I mentioned and think about how you, and I, and everyone else in this book are nothing but A SIGN OF THE TIMES!!!!

The End Of A DECADE

"Ever danced with the Devil in the pale moonlight?" asks Batman (Michael Keaton) of The Joker (Jack Nicholson) in one of the movies memorable scenes.

The crowning of Debbie Turner, Miss America 1990, was an exciting moment for everyone. The 1989-90 Madrigals met Miss Turner at a stamp dedication at which they sang during the Holiday season.

DISASTERS

The decade brought its share of disasters, from the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion to the Exxon Valdez oil spill. A nuclear accident at Chernobyl, followed by the 1989 San Francisco earthquake, caused the most damage. A series of eruptions of Mount Pinatubo in the Philippines caused the most deaths. The 1990 Northridge, Calif., earthquake caused the most damage to buildings. The 1990 Northridge, Calif., earthquake caused the most damage to buildings.

Politics

It's been a topsy-turvy decade for George Bush & Vice President George H. W. Bush. The 1988 election of George H. W. Bush, Time magazine's Man of the Decade, was followed by a series of scandals, including a presser by Cheney, president-elect's interns in Tennessee, a spate of political violence, and the 1990 invasion of Kuwait, which caused Iraq to invade the oil-rich kingdom. The Berlin wall came down in 1989, opening up the USSR, East Germany, and West Germany. The 300 million Soviets finally came to terms with the post-Soviet era in 1991.

MUSIC

The Rolling Stones arrived they still have what it takes. The group launched a 20-city tour in September that proved to be extravagant — from airshows to trout traps. David Bowie toured with the Rolling Stones as a Warmup group, yet also hit big with their top-selling album Vivid. The Who roared out of retirement led by 44-year-old Roger Daltrey. The group, which originated in 1964, went on a 25-city reunion tour. Mick Jagger hit the USA with their first two singles on top of the charts.

Drugs

The 1980s had much to do with the crack epidemic, the AIDS crisis, and the drug overexposure, including keep ing the names of the groups of self-medicating. Andrey was banished from the USSR for drug use. Butcher, Skeeter, and Duke, about Masturbation, 1986. Andie MacDowell and her husband of nearly 20 years, Michael Douglas, 1987. ## Space

Space shuttle Challenger exploded on January 28, 1986. The shuttle exploded 73 seconds after launch. The shuttle was the first to be lost in flight. The shuttle was the first to be lost in flight.

Entertainment

It's been a topsy-turvy decade for the entertainment industry. The 1980s saw the rise of the blockbuster movie, the rise of the megastar, and the rise of the megastar. The 1990s saw the rise of the megastar, the rise of the megastar, and the rise of the megastar. The 1990s saw the rise of the megastar, the rise of the megastar, and the rise of the megastar.

The B-2 Stealth Bomber . . . can you see it? This plane is supposed to be undetectable by radar, but not by the budget.

The Exxon Oil Spill created an environmental disaster. Exxon promised to clean it up . . . but to whose standards?

Just a few of the tens of thousands of protestors at Tienanmen Square.

Many students from W.L. discovered the wonderful world of no sleep during the 1989-1990 school year, and Jai Mitchell was no exception. He used a little extra time after school to grab a cat nap... and do a little thumb sucking. But where's his blanket?

Judy Davidow and Megan Callahan are astonished that not only is school finally over, but their picture is actually going in the yearbook!

Science is not an easy course for many people. A great deal of pondering goes on in the heads of many students. Here Artis Mooney wonders if maybe Fe is the symbol for calcium, and not iron.

Juliana Sparkman is caught in the act of actually using her locker. Hey, Juliana, IS that your locker?

The Future

is well that the future is hid from our sight,
That we walk in the sunshine, nor dream of the cloud,
We cherish a flower, think not of the blight,
And dream of the loom that may weave us a shroud.

It was good, it was kind in the Wise One above
To fling Destiny's veil o'er the face of our years,
So we see not the blow that shall strike at our love,
And expect not the beam that shall dry up our tears.

Though the cloud may be dark, there is sunshine beyond it,
Though the night may be long, yet the morning is near;
Though the vale may be deep, there is music
around it,
And hope 'mid our sorrow, bright hope is still near.

Washington Redskin Charles Mann and his daughter took time out from watching one of the home basketball games to visit with seniors Paige Bayliss, Heather Roberts, and Lori Dolby. Mann was there to watch a family friend from the opposing team play against the Generals.

Paul Lucas concludes that what his future holds for him is a trip to the "lost and found" to see if he can find the cockroach that stole his Government book.

Lara Felker uses class time to do work . . . no . . . it looks like maybe she's writing a note! Isn't that against the rules or something?

Finally . . .

inally . . . a statement muttered by everyone one at the end of every school year. And this year is no different. But now that the year is over, and all the tests are done, and the papers are graded, it is time to look back on what has happened. Washington-Lee accomplished many things during the 1989-90 school year. The football team was extremely successful, new clubs were introduced, many of the staff members and faculty helped to prevent the immediate decision on the boundary proposal, along with many other important things. For a time, W-L was more than just a school, it was a family. Now some of those members of the "family" are leaving. But not to worry, many will be back to visit. The end of this book symbolizes the end of a year, and the beginning of new things in life. So many things happened to everyone during the past year that not everything could be covered in this book. But what is in this book is 248 pages of memories, feelings, opinions, pictures, information, and many other SIGNS OF THE TIMES. So when you read this book on some rainy day in the future, just think about those fun times at high school when things really were easier. And maybe realize that these really were the best years of your life. So as the French would say "au revoir", which does not mean "good-bye", but instead means "until we meet again." And just remember that all those laughs, tears, emotions, failing and passing grades, papers, and everything else associated with high school, and life in general are all SIGNS OF THE TIMES and the memories will always be there.

Well, this is it, the official "end" of the 1989-90 Blue and Gray. And with this comes some "technical stuff" and some "thank yous." First, the technical stuff. The cover to the 1989-90 Blue and Gray is a laminated lithograph using the colors green and blue. The book contains 248 pages. The Introduction and the first part of Student Life are in pms green and 4-color process blue, alternating. The body copy on the dividers, in the Introduction, and in the Conclusion is American Italic type. The rest of the body copy is printed in Americana type. Each section chose different headline typestyles. Use the theme "Signs of the Times" was carried out in Lateinische type. The mug shots and some of the candids were taken by Segall-Majestic. The book was published by Jostens Publishing Company.

Now for the thank yous. The staff owes its thanks to many people for many things. We thank all the students who willingly, . . . and unwillingly submitted candids and baby pictures. Thank you to everyone who purchased ads to help fund this book. Much thanks goes to Segall-Majestic for sending us our film and developing our film and printing our pictures. The theme, "signs of the Times," is credited to Lori Dolby, as is the cover design, with some help from Rick Hardy. We thank our editor, Louie Rick Hardy many "thank yous" for everything he did to help in the success of this book. The staff extends immense gratitude to Mr. John Bailey, our representative from Jostens Publishing, who devoted much time and patience. He supported even our craziest ideas. And finally, to Mrs. Axiotis (our sponsor), that can be said is "THANK YOU!!!" for your time, patience, understanding, support, versatility, etc., etc., etc. To her we all wish the best of luck with her new baby. Now, one more time before "signing off" Thank You to everyone for everything.
